

Grain Superintendent, Ship Operations

Western Stevedoring has a full time position for an energetic and talented individual to join a dynamic industry that plays an important role in the movement of goods to and from world markets. This position offers the successful candidate not only a great job but the opportunity to build a career in the waterfront industry.

As an integral part of our Mainland ship operations team, Superintendents play a key role in the supervision of our vessel stevedoring operations. The successful candidate will support the delivery of efficient cargo handling services primarily for the grain sector with the future potential of supporting the forestry, steel and general cargo sectors. To be considered a candidate for this position, you will require some specialized skills as follows:

- Effective leadership, motivational and interpersonal communications skills while operating in a challenging environment
- Superior organizational and communications skills
- Extensive knowledge of port operations and prior advanced marine experience
- The ability to embrace change, innovation and technology
- Effectively develop key relationships with a diverse work group

You will be rewarded with a lucrative compensation and benefits program that includes a defined benefit pension plan and the opportunity to be part of a company that invests in their people.

This position works a varied schedule servicing a 24/7 operation, however, advance notice of work schedules is provided with compensating time off as required.

Western Stevedoring has been an industry leader in stevedoring and terminal operations for more than seven decades and is the largest, most diversified stevedoring contractor in BC. There has never been a better time to join the team at Western Stevedoring and become part of a growing organization. Check us out at www.westeve.com
